

Danielle Powder is a proud urban Métis woman who has a background in outreach, research and community engagement.

McKenna Marthiensen is a proud Inuvialuk woman whose family originates from Tuktoyaktuk in the Mackenzie Delta of the Northwest Territories. McKenna is currently a student completing her Bachelor of Arts degree, and pursuing her Masters in Forensic Psychology Law

Chloe Bluebird Mustooch is from the Alexis Nakoda Sioux Nation of Northern Alberta, and is an illustrator and recent graduate of the Emily Carr University of Art & Design.

Lisa Qiluqqi Koperqualuk was born in Puvirnituk on the eastern shore of Hudson Bay in Northern Quebec (Nunavik). Her areas of interest include Inuit self-determination, education, justice (particularly Inuit customary law), the Arctic environment, and the Inuit culture and language

Jaime Black is a multidisciplinary artist of mixed Anishinaabe and European descent.

Of French/Acadian and Cree decent, Angela Lightning was raised on the Ermineskin Cree Nation, within the Four Nations of Maskwacis. Being born into two cultures instilled the appreciation for all belief systems.

